

The Forest Guardians

emaanzpeekaboo.org

While hiking with their parents, Fizza and Ahmed noticed fallen trees and areas cleared for development. They realized that deforestation was destroying the homes of countless animals

They decided to start an awareness campaign by writing letters to local authorities and creating educational posters

With community support, they planted trees and educated others on the importance of forests for biodiversity. Their actions led to the creation of a protected green zone near their neighborhood

Lesson

Forest conservation is essential to protect wildlife and ecosystems
