

The PLASTIC Problem

While playing at the beach, Fizza and Ahmed found plastic waste harming sea creatures.

They organized a cleanup drive and spread awareness about reducing plastic use

They researched the harmful effects of plastic pollution on marine life and presented their findings at a local community center

They encouraged people to use reusable bags and bottles instead of single-use plastics.

Their efforts gained attention, and a local store pledged to reduce plastic packaging

Inspired, they continued their mission, visiting schools to educate younger students about responsible waste disposal
